FREE WEBSITE HELPS MMA FIGHTERS FIND FIGHTS

MMA Fighters Discover a Diamond of Career Making Tools in the Internet Rough

SAN DIEGO, California, February 2, 2010 - While the Internet can be a great tool for MMA fighters, finding reliable information about professional training tips, upcoming local fights, fighting opportunities, and MMA gear can be daunting.

Instead of spending countless hours sorting through endless lists of Google search results for MMA contacts, thousands of MMA fighters, promoters, managers, and other MMA professionals from around the world rely on MMARecruiter.com, a website providing free networking resources, information about the MMA industry, and a current listing of local, national, and international MMA events.

MMARecruiter.com is a free-to-use website which helps Mixed Martial Arts fighters boost their careers by networking with promoters, managers, sponsors, and others serious about MMA.

"This website was designed as a free resource to help fighters of Mixed Martial Arts get their careers started," said Michael Zuccarello, President of MMARecruiter.com, "We help fighters find fights, gain exposure, and find sponsorships."

The MMARecruiter.com community has quickly grown to over 8000 registered members worldwide and is estimated to double that member base by 2011. Registering in the community is free.

Among the many free resources available to registered users are free profile web pages for fighters, promoters, MMA companies, managers, fight teams, referees, trainers or others serious about being involved in the MMA industry. Members have full command of their profiles and can include pictures, videos, fight records, affiliations, and contact information.

Many MMARecruiter.com visitors enjoy the website's current listing of upcoming MMA fights. Promotions, both large and small, can list their events on MMARecruiter.com for free.

In addition to event lists and profile pages, MMARecruiter.com distributes a free monthly publication called MMAR Reader which features the latest MMA industry news, training advice columns from renowned MMA professionals, and contests for Featured Fighter, Featured MMA Company, Featured Video, and Featured Promoter.

With its growing network of free members and package of free MMA resources, MMARecruiter.com is poised to be the #1 source for MMA networking and event information on the Internet.

MMA Recruiter is based out of San Diego, California and provides Mixed Martial Arts fighters a free online platform where they can enhance their fighting careers by networking within the MMA industry.
